

St. Joan of Arc

(A short report about why I chose her name)

By Kathleen Marie Greenholdt

Sr. Janet Helen

Eighth Grade

C. C. D.

March 20, 1978

St. Joan of Arc

St. Joan of Arc was a brave, good, and fascinating woman. I suppose this is the reason that I chose her name as mine. St. Joan fought for freedom. She had the power to be a great leader, and was one.

St. Joan heard the voices of two saints and of the Archangel Michael. She was instructed to lead France to be free from England. She carried out her duty, too! She was a French heroine.

The reasons I have for choosing the name Joan, are that I want to be brave and good. I want to lead people to freedom and democracy. St. Joan, in a sense, was a feminist. I am also. I plan a political career, and with her values I will take on that load. St. Joan of Arc is perfect for me.